

Alien Addition

378

You need a calculator a classmate

652

Activity

On Home Planet, there are four different types of aliens: pink ones, blue ones, green ones, and yellow ones.

Each day, they key the number shown on their tummy into their building's computer. The computer is then able to tell them what work they are to do that day.

64

3

1. What is the total of the numbers keyed into the computer:

- by the pink aliens?
- by the green aliens?
- by the blue aliens?
- by the aliens with one-digit numbers?
- by the aliens with two-digit numbers?
- by the aliens with three-digit numbers?

210

2. Two pink aliens are designing a new high-speed shuttle. The numbers on their tummies add up to 157.

What number does each pink alien have on its tummy?

97

3. Using two of the aliens shown here, think of an addition question where the answer is 422 and write it in your book.

4. Using the aliens on this page, think of another addition question and ask a classmate to solve it.

5. Add up the numbers on all the aliens' tummies.

6. If the total number keyed into the building's computer changed to 2270, which aliens might not be working?

31

5

9

332

978

6

95

212